STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

The Journal says: Six teachers will be retired from the Lewiston public schools on Monday next, as the result of the withdrawal of over 300 pupils by the opening of the St. Joseph's parochial school in this city. One of the teachers will be taken from the grammar school, two from the intermediate schools, and three from the primary schools. The schools and classes will be consolidated and re-classified so as to assign about fifty pupils to each of the remaining teachers in the schools affected. The teachers whose services the city will lose are held in high esteem and it is a source of regret that this action is made necessary by circumstances. Their salaries amount to about $2,000 per annum. The amount saved during the remainder of the school year, by dispensing with their services is $1,450. All the teachers are ladies.

Aroostook.

The Pioneer says that Aroostook potato buyers claim that the present high price cannot be maintained, for two reasons: first, there will be a falling off in consumption, brend, to some extent, taking the place of potatoes, which at one dollar per bushel are an expensive luxury. Second, the Dominion crop has begun to reach the Atlantic cities of New England, and will have a tendency to lower the price.

Cumberland.

The Press says that the coroner's jury found that Mr. Packard came to his death by his own carelessness and exonerate the Maine Central railroad and employes from all blame.

The Press says that the woman who ran away with Mr. Robert's team in Portland, has been captured and the team recovered. Her name is Hindle, and she was divorced from her husband some time ago. She has been an inmate of the Alms House, and escaped from there last Saturday morning. She is said to suffer from insane attacks.

Chas. Winslow, a son of Mr. Wm. Winslow, and an employe of Messrs. Meserve & Moulton of Saccarappa, struck his right arm against a circular saw, Monday, cutting the same to such an extent that it was found necessary to amputate the arm just above the elbow.——The same day Mr. Frank Meserve was obliged to have a finger amputated, caused by a severe cut from one of the saws in the same mill.

The Argus says that during the past season Messrs. Perry & Flint of Portland, put up at their factory in Baldwin, about 10,000 cans of green corn. They are now running three bands at their apple drying establishment at the same place, and intend during the winter to put up some 20,000 bushels of apples.

Kennebec.

The Journal says that work began Tuesday on the soldiers' monument at Augusta. It is hoped and thought that the monument will be erected in about two weeks.

The Argus says that "Old Maid," the famous Maine Trotter, formerly owned by Jona. Moulton, Esq., of Wayne, was recently sold in New York, for $5,000. Mr. Moulton has now in training a half sister of "Old Maid," which is a very promising colt. She is six years old, weighs 1050 pounds, and is one of the best proportioned animals we have ever seen. Mr. Moulton was the owner at one time of the brother of "Old Maid," now owned by a New York horse fancier, and valued at $20,000.

Lincoln.

Two new cases of small pox have appeared in Boothbay, children of Isaac Reed, living near the house of Mr. Bennett. The Bennett boys are getting better. Considerable anxiety is felt in regard to the disease among the citizens of the town.

Oxford.

The Democrat says that the corn shop of J. Winslow Jones, at Hiram, is again in full blast, canning apples and pumpkins. Thousands of bushels of apples hitherto worthless, or worse than worthless as material for cider, bring 20 cts per bushel; pumpkins sell for $3 per ton. Scores of laborers find employment, and provide comforts and luxuries for the winter season; and business receives an impetus, and ceases not till the goods reach St. Louis, their final destination.

The Democrat says that farmers in Woodstock are about done harvesting, and are somewhat encouraged at the prospect of fair prices for their products. Potatoes are rather high; corn is fair, and the crop of apples is more than an average, although they were injured in some exposed places by the recent cold snap.

The Democrat says of the recent suicide of Mr. Wm. Morse of Buckfield, he had been laboring with his son, cheerful and social during the day. Just after supper his son went after a load of second-crop hay; his little grandson asked him if he wasn't going, too, and he said, no, he was not needed. He watered his horse, and when his son entered the barn he was hanging with a small rope around his neck while his knees grazed the floor.

Hon. Nelson Dingley, Jr., will give a lecture in the Baptist church at Buckfield, Thursday evening, Nov. 3, before the high school and citizens.

The Argus says that the New York parties who lately purchased J. B. Webb's corn factory at Bethel, have settled the claims of the farmers on the former firm at the rate of 95 cents on a dollar.

Waldo.

The Journal says that Deacon Stephen Pendleton, of Searsmont, a prominent citizen in that town, has been committed to the Insane Hospital.

Washington.

The Union says that Mr. Luther Tibbetts, at Indian River, died suddenly, Oct. 18th. He had bruised his thumb a short time previous with a hammer, which occasioned lock-jaw, resulting in death.

York.

The Times says that Mr. Jason Emery, a carpenter of Biddeford, died very suddenly last Friday evening. He ate his supper with apparent relish, and at that time was feeling perfectly well. Soon after he was taken suddenly sick and died in less than an hour.

The Argus says that the coroner's verdict on the death of Eleazer B. Smith, who was run over and fatally injured by the cars at Old Orchard, on the 17th inst., has been made public. The engineer and conductor are severely censured, and the railroad company is also blamed for not giving men who run this train more definite instructions.

The wife of the Lord's Supper was laid aside, and the communion by the laity under the form of bread alone took its rise in the west in 1000.

ASTHMA Quickly and Permanently CURED
Dr. Sherer's Asthma Remedy is unequaled as a positive Alterative and Cure for Asthma and Dyspepsia, and all their attendant evils. It does not merely afford temporary relief, but is a permanent cure. Mrs. B. F. Lee, of Baltimore, O., says of it: "I am overjoyed at the speedy effects of your remedy. It is the first medicine in the house that has loosened my cough and made expectoration easy. I have slept all night without coughing." If your druggist does not keep it, send for treatise and testimonials to

SECRETARY BLAINE'S LETTER ON THE PANAMA CANAL

[From the New York Tribune.]

Mr Blaine's letter to Mr. Lowell sets at rest all questions concerning the attitude of the United States toward the Panama canal. It is not a mere reassertion of the Monroe Doctrine, and its application to the project for inter-oceanic transit, but is in effect an explicit declaration of the intention of the American Republic to protect all its interests which the canal may affect, and a courteous notification to European Powers that any combination on their part to supersede the United States in its right to guarantee the neutrality of the canal would be regarded by your Government as partaking of the nature of an act unfriendly against us and as an indication of unfriendly feeling. The language of the letter is plain and unmistakable. There is no diplomatic obscurity about it. No European Power which may covet the control of the canal can hereafter seek shelter from projects to that end behind an assumption of doubt as to the attitude and purpose of this country.

[From the N. Y. Times.]

It is not too much to say that the letter of instructions written last June by Secretary Blaine to Mr Lowell, in London, and each of the other American Ministers in Europe, is the best brief statement yet made of the American position in regard to the political control of the Panama canal. Sent out four months ago, its publication through the medium of a Senate bill is particularly timely just now—so opposite, in fact, as almost to provoke a smile at its thrift, since, in a moment of unprecedented friendship of all the leading nations of Europe for our country, Mr. Blaine could seem disposed to harvest this good feeling at its maturity by pointing out that practical form of proving it will be to refrain from entering into that joint European guarantee of the neutrality of the canal which Colombia is believed to be urging, and which would form a European protectorate over the Isthmus. The chief excellence of Mr Blaine's statement of the American position is that instead of basing itself on the oracular utterances of long-since-outgrown politics or upon the existence of a popular whim it appeals to sound reason.

THE CABINET.

The name of Chief Justice Folger, of the New York Court of Appeals, was mentioned in connection with the Cabinet while President Garfield was arranging his list and has been prominently considered since President Arthur's accession. There will be no question of Judge Folger's high character or eminent abilities, though how far he has specially familiarized himself with matters of financial policy and administration we do not know. It seems almost strange that he should be willing to leave as exalted and permanent position on the bench for so different and uncertain a place as a Cabinet office, and, of course, we do not for a moment credit the report that so high-minded a jurist would be a party to any arrangement involving a future claim of transferred to the Supreme Bench the reconstruction of Postmaster-General James at the same time the President resigns to New York State two of the most important positions in the Cabinet, which is so unusual that there are probably reasons for it that will be made known in due time. We may certainly congratulate the country upon the evidence afforded by the designation first of ex Governor Morgan and now of Judge Folger, that the President is disposed to seek his chief counselors among the men of most eminent character and attainments.

SIGNIFICANT OHIO FIGURES

[From the Cleveland Herald, Rep.]

The whole vote was smaller than in 1879 or the year preceding, but the Republican majorities were larger. In the election of 1879 the total vote was 670,711, and there was a majority for Governor over Ewing of 1,25. At the October election in 1880 the total vote was 718,156, and the Republican majority for Secretary of State over the Democratic candidate 19,095. At the recent election the total vote was 625,069, and Foster's majority over Bookwalter 41,000. Thus with a falling off in the total vote of 45,000 Governor Foster has gained 22,000 on his own majority two years ago and a vote lighter by 93,000 than was cast a year ago he has gained 5,000 on the majority of that year. Bearing in mind the invariable rule that a light vote in this State is at the expense of the Republicans, and a tremendous majority the Republican ticket would have rolled up this month had the full vote of the State been cast!

It is the Boston Journal which now remarks "It would scarcely have injured Mr. Wayne MacVeagh in public estimation if he had shown less indecent haste in throwing up his Cabinet position. It is stated that he positively declined to remain a few weeks, though requested to do so by the President. We believe Mr. MacVeagh did not wait to see the conclusion of the Chilean Convention."

Senor Martinez, Chilian minister at Washington on Tuesday, received a cablegram from Santiago, dated the 24th inst., announcing the serious illness of General Kilpatrick, United States Minister to Chili. The despatch stated that Gen. Kilpatrick was receiving the best care and attention, and that the physicians feared his case was hopeless.

Exclusive of the mortality from yellow fever, the average death rate of Memphis for five years previous to 1880 was 31 per 1000 annually. It was supposed that the new system of sewerage would decrease this rate materially, and doubtless it would have produced that desirable effect had not the people been obliged to drink filthy water since its completion. In reality, however, the death rate has increased fearfully, running up to nearly 60 per 1,000 for the week ending October 15.

It is expected that Mr. Blaine will address the Tariff Convention to be held in New York, November 25.

Mr. David Davis is described as a man of such perfect equanimity that he has written some of his most noted opinions when his office was filled with tenants whose questions he answered without ceasing to write. Judge Davis has a large quantity of land in Central Illinois and his riches are supposed to amount to $2,000,000.

POLITICAL AND MISCELLANEOUS

The Milwaukee Exposition closes with a profit of $30,000.

The steamship Maine brought to New York gold to the amount of $1,100,000.

Young James Garfield, who has returned to his class at Williams College, is again very ill with the malaria which his system absorbed in Washington. It is feared that his ill-health will force him to leave college.

Late estimates of the destruction done by the fires in the Michigan forests give 1,800 square miles of country burned over, with a loss of $2,916,000, on which there was about $621,000 insurance. Eight churches, 25 school houses, 130 stores, and 1,147 dwelling houses were burned.

The superintendent of the experimental tea farm at Summerville, S C sent 3,000 tea plants to the Atlanta Exposition, on October 21. The average height of these specimens, which were selected as a fair sample of the crop, is about nineteen inches and they look healthy and hardy.

Mr. E A Freeman says that the only word he has heard since coming to New England which was at all unintelligible to him, is the word "frarn" as applied to meat not quite only cooked. On speaking of it, a Bostonian convinced him that it had the excellent authority of Dryden.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Session of the Senate.

CABINET NOMINATIONS.

General News

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27. When the Senate met this morning there was a rumor that a final adjournment would be reached to-day and the adoption of a resolution for the payment of extra compensation to pages and other employes served to strengthen that impression

On motion of Mr. Ingalls a resolution was adopted continuing during the recess of the Senate the authority conferred upon the Committee on Judiciary to examine into the subject of bankruptcy and directing the committee to report in December.

Mr Allison offered a resolution authorizing the Committee on Appropriations to conduct by the sub committee the investigation ordered as to the disbursement of the contingent and other expenses of the various departments of the Senate Laid over for the present

Mr Morrill offered a resolution directing the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds to inquire into the expediency of providing some means for the immediate removal of the depot and tracks of the Baltimore & Potomac Railroad and for the removal of the Baltimore & Ohio depot in Washington Laid over for the present

On motion, the authority conferred on the Committee on Public Lands to inquire into the condition of the Land Office was continued during the recess of the Senate

The President pro tem laid before the Senate a communication from Gov Colquitt of Georgia, tendering to him and through him to the members of the Senate the cordial invitation of the officers and Executive Committee of the Cotton Exposition to visit the exposition now being held at Atlanta, Georgia Laid upon the table and ordered printed

The Senate at 12 25 went into Executive session

Shortly after going into Executive session the Senate took a recess for one hour for the various committees to consider the nominations received this forenoon and to report upon them to-day. The Senate before the recess was taken confirmed the nomination of Charles W Seaton of New York as Superintendent of the Census

The Senate remained in Executive session until 4 30 P M, when the doors re opened and the Senate adjourned until tomorrow

The day's session was prolonged until 6 o clock in the evening by an animated contest over the nomination of Clifford Stratham, Readjuster, of Democratic antecedents, to be postmaster at Lynchburg Va vice the Republican incumbent whose term of office expires on the 7th prox His confirmation was earnestly opposed by the Democratic Senators on the ground that Wilson was a gallant Union soldier, severely wounded in the war that the business men are entirely satisfied with his administration of the post-office, and that the proposed appointment of Stratham (an active supporter of Senator Mahone) is an inadmissable attempt to influence the issue of a State political contest by Federal patronage

It was replied by Cameron of the Post office Committee, Ferry, and various other Republicans that the recent investigation by the special agent of the Postoffice Department had shown that Wilson had been short in his accounts at three different periods, that his use of Government money for private purposes, although subsequently made good, amounted to gross dereliction of duty, if not an actual defalcation, and fully warranted his displacement, that Stratham's appointment is recommended with great unanimity by the Republicans of Lynchburg, and that the objection based upon the alleged federal interference with State politics, is unworthy of notice in view of the special circumstances of the case and a multitude of general precedents

After three hours discussion an attempt was made by the Republicans to obtain a vote on the confirmation, but it was prevented by a resort on the part of the Democrats to dilatory tactics and finally an adjournment was taken until to morrow leaving the case still pending It is believed by many that similar resistance to final action on this nomination will be exerted by the Democratic members of the Senate until the close of the present session, unless in the meantime it shall be ascertained that Senator Davis of Illinois will vote with them, in which event if party lines are persistently maintained in regard to it the nomination will be lost by a tie vote

Nominations by the President

The President sent the following nominations to the Senate to-day

Chas J Folger, of New York, for Secretary of the Treasury Thos James of New York for Postmaster General, Frank Hatton of Iowa, for First Assistant Postmaster General He also sent in several nominations of foreign consuls The first three were confirmed.

NEW YORK, Oct 27 A Washington despatch says Emory Storrs, of Chicago, has accepted the nomination of Attorney General and his name will be sent to the Senate to morrow

Guiteau's Trial

In the Criminal Court to-day an order was passed allowing twenty witnesses to be subpœnaed in behalf of Guiteau, fees and costs of service to be paid by the government.

The decision of Judge Lawrence yesterday, in relation to the witnesses in the Guiteau case was misunderstood The Judge decided the court has the power to summon witnesses living more than 100 miles outside of the jurisdiction of the court and the accounts for their expenses must be allowed by the accounting officers when duly presented by a United States Marshal, that the law of the 100 miles jurisdiction does not apply to the District of Columbia and has not been changed by recent statutes as claimed by the District Attorney

The total amounts which it is estimated will be needed for the general service of light house establishments during the coming fiscal year are as follows For light house establishment, $2 248 000, for light houses and fog signals, $530,000

VIRGINIA

Demand for Confederate Bonds

RICHMOND, Oct. 27. A remarkable demand for Confederate bonds continues and the boom for these valueless promises to pay is unabated The best demand for these bonds seems to be here in the capital of the late Confederacy where they were originally manufactured and issued It is not probable, however, that the scheme for their purchase originated in Richmond The brokers are all advertising for them One house has purchased nearly five million coupon bonds at from three to five dollars per thousand.

RHODE ISLAND

Of Interest to Mariners

WASHINGTON, Oct 27. Notice is given by the lighthouse board that on or about Oct 27, a whistling signal buoy will be moored on Southwest ledge off Block Island, R. I, in about ten fathoms of water This buoy is painted with red and black horizontal stripes, with S W ledge painted in white letters on the middle black band It is surmounted by a whistle operated by the motion of the sea and giving blasts at short intervals

VERMONT.

Criminal Carelessness

RICHFORD, Oct. 27. This morning, as the mail train from Boston was approaching the station, through a misplaced switch the train ran into an engine house, striking three engines and injuring them slightly. None of the passengers were hurt and the train proceeded on its way to Montreal.

IRELAND.

ADDRESS FROM THE ORGAN

Of the Land League.

DUBLIN, Oct 27. This week's issue of the United Ireland, organ of the Land League, appears to day. It contains no leading articles upon the current events, but in a prominent place is left a blank column surrounded by broad black mourning lines, containing only the words "Freedom of the press in Ireland in 1881" In an adjoining column is printed an address to the readers of the journal in which the following words occur

"It is now plain that the freedom of opinion is for the moment at an end in Ireland, except for the enemies of the people or for those still more dangerous friends who are taking advantage of the paralysis of public opinion in order to deaden the people's courage and to aid the design of foreign coercion by craven counsels Nearer home, however, he who speaks the word that is burning in a million Irish hearts is struck dumb by the mailed hand Whoever openly or covertly bids the people to desert the cause to which they have pledged their lives and honor before the world is petted for his treason and glorified for his cowardice Under these circumstances a journal which has no aptitude for apostacy can continue to exist only by ceasing to express any opinion at all, and by confining itself to collecting bare facts concerning the great struggle which is now only commencing

During the reign of terror United Ireland will be conducted on this principle The blank in its editorial columns, every peasant in his mountain hut and every friend of freedom in the world over will know how to translate. Our gaze turns from ferocious England to the glorious West In the hands of the Irish in America lies our fate Apathy among our transatlantic brethren meant death Now or never one glorious effort on their part means victory"

A BAPTIST MINISTER'S EXPERIENCE.

I am a Baptist Minister, and before I even thought of being a clergyman, I graduated in medicine, but left a lucrative practice for my present profession, 40 years ago I was for many years a sufferer from quinsy; "THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL cured me" I was also troubled with hoarseness and Thomas' Eclectric Oil always relieved me My wife and child had the diphtheria, and "Thomas' Eclectric Oil cured them" and if taken in time it will cure seven times out of ten I am confident it is a cure for the most obstinate cold or cough, and if any one will take a small teaspoon and half fill it with the Oil, and then place the end of the spoon in one nostril and draw the Oil out of the spoon into the head by sniffing as hard as they can, until the Oil falls over into the throat, and practice that twice a week, I don't care how offensive their head may be, it will clean it out and cure their catarrh. For deafness and earache it has done wonders to my certain knowledge It is the only medicine dubbed patent medicine that I have ever felt like recommending, and I am very anxious to see it in every place, for I tell you that I would not be without it in my house for any consideration. I am now suffering with a pain like rheumatism in my right limb, and nothing relieves me like Thomas' Eclectric Oil.

Last evening, at the meeting of Post Bartle G A R Hon A C Hamlin a member of the Post gave a very interesting and instructive sketch of scenes and incidents at the Yorktown celebration

OUR WATER POWER Hon A D Lockwood of Providence R I, the able Superintendent of the Waterville cotton mills arrived in the city last evening with his wife, on his way for a trip to the Provinces At the invitation of some of our leading capitalists Mr Lockwood Hon Josiah B Mayo of Foxcroft, and other prominent manufacturers, will visit our dam this forenoon to examine the extent and facilities of the water power, and the opportunities for its development

INSTALLATION OF REV MR FAY Rev S P Fay, formerly of the Hammond street church in this city will be installed a pastor of the Lower Mills church, Dorchester Mass, on the second day of November Rev Geo W. Field, of Bangor delivers the sermon, Prof Barbour the charge to the minister, Rev R. Thomas the charge to the people, Rev J H Means D D the right hand of fellowship, and Rev Dr McKenzie of Cambridge the prayer of installation.

THE LECTURE TO-NIGHT. The second lecture in the Art Course, at City Hall, to-night, will be upon Wells Cathedral and Glastonbury Abbey Wells is a sleepy little city in Somersetshire, England about 120 miles southwest of London Glastonbury Abbey is a complete ruin, but is famous because Joseph of Arimathea is said to have founded it about twenty five years after the death of our Lord, and because he took with him the Holy Grail which was the dish from which our Lord drank at the Last Supper

A correspondent of the Salem (Mass) Gazette relates that some forty five years ago Hannibal Hamlin met with a reverse in town meeting, and returning to his office threw himself upon a lounge and exclaimed "Oh political death how much more dreadful than the death eternal" He has since been Senator Vice President Collector of Boston and is now Minister to Spain We should doubt whether Mr Hamlin ever felt quite so bad over the result of any town meeting but he has certainly held and honored the distinguished offices mentioned

THE SOLDIERS MONUMENT AT AUGUSTA We learn from the Kennebec Journal that the successful completion of the undertaking is near at hand, and ere long the patriotic work that has been going on for so many months will show in a most substantial, artistic, and in every way worthy result At the start it was undertaken to raise for the purpose $10 000 By many this was thought impossible, but in the whole management no such word as 'fail' has been known, and more than the amount has been pledged, so that there is likely to be a small surplus for general necessary purposes Great credit is certainly due to the citizens of Augusta for the liberality and heartiness through which the noble result was made possible

"AUNT SERENA We are indebted to the authoress for an advanced copy of Miss Blanche Willis Howard's new book, "Aunt Serena," which we received a few days since by the hand of her father, D. M Howard, Esq, of this city. The book is very neatly published by Messrs James R Osgood & Co, Boston, in a unique binding of buff ornamented in black and gold. We have not yet finished its perusal, but it opens with a charm of freshness and piquancy and the early pages are replete with a wealth of descriptive beauty and a sparkling individuality of style that fully vindicate the complimentary words of the published review and increases the interest with every page The book is now on the counters of D. Bugbee & Co and Charles Hight & Co, and will meet a rapid and extensive sale

AMUSEMENTS.

Hazel Kirke

The representation of "Hazel Kirke," at Norombega last evening, by the Madison Square Theatre Company, with Miss Georgia Cayvan in the title role, was witnessed by a large audience, and had it not been for other attractions, among them the lecture under the auspices of the Art Association, at City Hall, the seating capacity of the old hall would doubtless have been found inadequate to the demand.

The story of "Hazel Kirke" has already been briefly published in these columns, but the matter-of fact types have but faintly pictured the deep and tender pathos of the play which so affects the hearts of all who witness it. The piece was well set, much attention having been given to details, and the cast was a strong one.

Miss Georgia Cayvan is well known to our citizens, her reading having won for her the highest regard, and her qualities as a lady the affection of the community. It is not strange, then, if as "Hazel Kirke" she won the warmest sympathy and heartiest applause. Her quiet, gentle, yet effective impersonation last evening was just what might have been expected of Miss Cayvan, and her figure, her speaking eyes, her mobile features, her pleasant voice, all seemed perfectly adapted to the character she assumed. In the scene with Lady Travers, in the second act, an opportunity was given for the display of her highest powers. At the close of the act she was called before the curtain, and here occurred a little incident which went far to show the generous nature of the lady As she advanced in front of the curtain, holding the hand of Miss Ada Wight (Lady Travers) in that of her own, a beautiful bouquet was presented to her, but while in the act of politely accepting it broke the string that bound it and gave to her companion a liberal portion of the floral offering thus beautifully expressing her wish that she might share the honors

In Mr Charles Wheatleigh as "Dunstan Kirke" the character has a strong interpreter His quiet strength was manifest, there was no unseemly ranting, but the iron will of the old miller was observable even in the quietest scenes In two scenes especially—the first where he upbraided Lord Travers and then cast off his child with a curse upon his lips, the second, at the end of the third act, where his iron will gave way when he believes his child to be drowning,—his emotional power was such as to so arouse the audience—to stir their natures to the very depths and excite the sentiments of pity and sympathy to such a pitch as to be intensely painful

Mr Frankau as 'Pittacus Green,' Mr Crompton as 'Aaron Rodney, Mr Milliken as 'Met" and Miss Margaret Cone as Dolly Dutton played their parts more than acceptably Mr Frankau being very easy and finished in his amusing role

Mr Coulter well represented Lord Travers, a character which could not fail to win the sympathy of the audience

The other parts were all well taken The following is the cast

Hazel Kirke	Miss Georgia Cayvan
Lady Travers	Mrs Ada Wight
Mercy Kirke	Mrs Dolly Pike
Dolly Dutton	Miss Margaret Cone
Clara	Miss Maud Stuart
Dunstan Kirke	Mr Charles Wheatleigh
Pittacus Green	Mr Joseph Frankau
Aaron Rodney	Mr A S Phillips
Barney	Mr [illegible]
Met	Mr Kirk Milliken
Joe a miller	Mr J J Leete
Dan a servant	Mr Geo Conway

The music by Andrews' orchestra was excellent the audience being favored with selections from several popular operas

Each of the ladies present last evening received as a souvenir an album of silhouettes of the principal scenes in the play, and to-night an elegant floral programme will be distributed to each lady attending

AN ELEGANT RESIDENCE

Mr Burpee's Extensive Improvements on the Gen. Hersey House

Some time since we announced the purchase of the Hersey estate on High street, by Mr E R Burpee The present owner has made extensive alterations about the premises, remodelling the house entirely so far as its interior is concerned and making important changes in the style of the exterior architecture. The exterior was planned by A H Vinal, the architect, and the interior by Messrs W & J Cutter, the carpenters, and Mrs Burpee At first it would seem difficult to decide just what name to give to the style of architecture which gives to the residence its peculiar attractiveness It is, however, what may be called an English cottage, with much that is suggestive of the Swiss style, several architectural novelties have also evidently been borrowed from Newport and other fashionable resorts, which add much to its appearance The house was originally built in 1818 or 1840 and was an elegant house for those days, but at the time it was purchased by Mr Burpee there were lacking many features that at this day are deemed indispensable in a fashionable residence A large circular bay window has been built in that portion of the house that rests on High street Radical changes are observable everywhere A portion of the piazza has been converted into a sort of conservatory for plants The exterior has been highly ornamented with fanciful designs, bits of colored glass and rare pebbles embedded in a plastic substance flash all the colors of the prism in the sunlight Two or three large shade trees have been removed in front of the residence To go into details would require far more space than we can devote to the purpose

Stepping inside we notice first the peculiar style of windows In the reception room and in the parlors mullioned windows extend from the floor nearly to the ceiling each window having one large pane in the lower sash and a smaller one surrounded by miniature panes in the upper sash The rooms are painted in mahogany. What were the sleeping and sitting rooms of the late General Hersey have been converted into a large dining room the partition having been removed The room is finished in black walnut The kitchen is a model affair and would gladden the heart of any housekeeper All the conveniences imaginable are found here In fact Mr Burpee has gone to great expense in putting in pipes of every description and of the most approved pattern The chambers are all very finely finished A bath room has been fitted up in a manner that reflects credit upon the workmen There are also sleeping rooms in the attic

Two large Kohler furnaces in the basement furnish the necessary warmth Speaking tubes bells, dumb waiters, etc have all been introduced, and when the repairs and alterations now nearing completion shall have all been perfected Mr Burpee will have one of the most elegant and conveniently arranged residences in the city

The Messrs Cutter began their work about the 10th of September and that they have made rapid progress is very evident to any one who is acquainted with the extent of the improvements made The painting is being done by Messrs Marston & Gorham and the plumbing by Messrs Leighton & Davenport

ART ASSOCIATION COURSE

Lecture by Mrs Downs on the Canterbury Cathedral

An appreciative audience greeted Mrs Downs at the City Hall last evening The Art Association lecture course opened auspiciously.

Mrs Downs said Three of the most important events of history had taken place on the shores of the County of Kent England, and were intimately associated with the chief city, Canterbury. These events were respectively the landing of the Romans under Julius Cæsar 54 B C, the landing of the Saxons, 449 A D, and the landing of St Augustine, with which we are concerned to night,—597 A. D.

Canterbury was a place of importance when the Romans landed and the Saxons were amazed at the wealth and works of its men, and St Augustine, although he came for the purpose of introducing Christianity into England found at Canterbury a Christian queen and an annointed and a consecrated priest The lecturer dwelt somewhat upon the interesting historical character of Gregory the Great. Architecturally the Canterbury Cathedral is of paramount importance for it was the first great church the Romans built after the coming of the Conqueror, although Edward the Confessor had finished Westminster Abbey in their style just before their arrival. Books upon Canterbury Cathedral are abundant and accessible

It is only after the careful and systematic study of competent authorities that any true understanding can be obtained of a complete subject such as this, or any direct profit obtained from a series of pictures, or, indeed, the sight of the actual objects themselves. Pleasure undoubtedly might follow, but the rule holds good that the greater the knowledge the greater the enjoyment, and knowledge only can render these silent walls and vaults vocal, knowledge alone can change these traceried windows with loopholes of an illuminated past of whose genius and spirit the whole vast cathedral is alike the sublimest and the truest exponent

Then followed in quick succession views of St. Martin's church, where was said St. Augustine's first mass; where Ethelbert and Bertha were buried and where the former was baptized, and whose age dates back to the Roman soldiers who were perhaps the first Christians in Britain Dean Albert's grave was shown under a dark yew tree. Next, Christ church gate, through which went Chaucer and his immortal pilgrims, Edward the Black Prince to his bridal and his burial; the wonderful nave of the Cathedral with its stately staircases, and the many other objects of interest connected with the historical edifice, including the transept of martyrdom where the murder of Becket occurred and which made Canterbury Cathedral known to the remotest borders of Christendom; the cloister walk through which his infuriated pursuers ran and gained the church almost as soon as the Archbishop. We saw what the books call the Baptistry, but what was really the lavatory of the Norman Convent dating back to 1140 It is covered with the most luxurious ivy, and is of peculiar beauty. We were next shown the Norman staircase This is one of the simplest compositions in an architectural point of view and one of the most effective. Its date is 1167 and it once opened into a great hall where pilgrims to Becket's shrine were lodged and fed This great hall had chambers attached to it called Paradise and Heaven.

In 1538 Henry VIII gave this building to the pupils of a grammar school which he founded at Canterbury.

From Pittsfield

Our correspondent "B" writes The public meeting of the American Society was held at the M. C. Institute on Wednesday evening, Oct 26th The exercises opened with prayer and singing by a quartette Following these came a select declamation by Ira Jenkins, subject "Question of War with England" Then the following question "Resolved, That the United States will decay as the nations of antiquity have done," was discussed by F L Stinson and J Whitney Goff in the affirmative and F H Nickerson and J B Bryant in the negative At the close of the discussion the question was decided in the negative by a vote of 11 to 7. Many of the members refrained from voting After a short recess and singing by the quartette, W F Hart delivered a very well written eloquent oration on "Garfield" Mr R A Conant then sang a song, and the paper by W. W Cushman and Mabel F Weymouth followed The exercises closed with a beautiful quartette, which consisted of Mr and Mrs R. A Conant, Miss F I Jones and Dr Taylor with Mrs Taylor as pianist A good audience was present and the exercises passed off creditably.

Wednesday afternoon, public rhetoricals were held at the M C Institute The essays and orations were very well rendered and many of them showed good thought and culture Miss Jennie L Collin sang two songs in her usual skillful and pleasing manner

The fall term at the Institute closes on Friday The new principal, Prof Parsons and assistants are well liked by the students The village schools will also close on Friday next

PILES! PILES! PILES!

A SURE CURE FOUND AT LAST! NO ONE NEED SUFFER!

A sure Cure for Blind, Bleeding, Itching and Ulcerated Piles has been discovered by Dr. William, (an Indian remedy) called Dr. William's Indian Ointment. A single box has cured the worst chronic cases of 25 or 30 years standing. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, instruments and electuaries do more harm than good. William's Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching, (particularly at night after getting warm in bed,) acts as a poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared only for piles, itching of the private parts, and for nothing else.

Read what the Hon. J. M. Coffinberry of Cleveland, says about Dr. William's Indian Pile Ointment I have used scores of Pile Cures, and it affords me pleasure to say that I have never found anything which gave such immediate and permanent relief as Dr. William's Indian Ointment.

A LOVE STORY.

It was a Miss Quaker,
as sect as to dress,
As ever its eyes did look under her,
) can her very bonnet
as worthy of a sonnet:
Her kerchief, too

Her dress, as neat and simple
Her cheeks—there was a dimple
In either one
And then her feet
Could not
Design a thing and smoothly or would not,
Visit off the rim

Right in its golden splendor,
If new charm to lend her
In labor so full
Proof of no channel :—
I always extra
Your company

If you fail seeing her
Her sweet, quiet demeanor,
Accost in her eyes,
Won't have to call
) lekily have decided
As you would be

To ask her to be her
Beg I'd love her better
Embrace my life
Our kindred spirit
Meet as one can make her,
In my wife

Only two national parks have ever been added to the country by authority of the general government—the Yosemite Valley and the Yellowstone National Park.

A old proverb says: If you throw a pound of bread to the poor the Lord will throw a pound of butter into your lap! This may be true. We shan't risk trying anyway.

It would be extremely disagreeable to have a pound of butter clucked into our lap.

The humorous part which produces a stiff effects in the dark, is being introduced as a novelty, when in fact the employment of China in the year of grace two hundred and fifty-two, the subject of which very morning left its home to go and take a walk and was only to view a night. The people must follow ought there was something peculiar about the artist; but it turned out that to make his paint of a hundred dollars extracted from the oyster. Forty thousand years later oyster shells might prove astonishing our growth up.

THE WORK OF A GOOD MAN.—Of the late James P. Brace the Western agent of the Children's Aid Society, who has settled more than ten thousand children in Western homes, the Rev. Mr. Griffin who conducted the funeral remarks as Wawer

Could said in part. When a man is in the line of the Gospel the good he does will live after him. People will listen years after this to a bright Illinois farmer in a far Western State with his boldness and advocating some Christian benevolent enterprise. He will press not his points by the force of illustrations but by tone and from his own life experience. He will relate the story of his early and the connection of James P. Brace that it grew mainly through his efforts created by Providence. He was nourished by Christian brethren and thus grew into brighter manhood. Some good Methodist brother in a far Western church will read and regularly giving his experience in the weekly prayer meeting. Occasionally he will speak, but he will always think of Mr. Brace when he speaks and thinks of God's great mercy to him. The thousands of boys who journeyed with him from the great metropolis of vice sin and temptation bound to the West, where through his influence he got better happy homes awaited them will ever remember him with thankful hearts. Even the babes who felt his cheer hand upon them but were too young to know their good samaritan friend will hear with gratitude the story of their exodus from Egypt to a more promising home under the care of his friend. Wherever he has travelled in behalf of homes for these children there too he will be held in affectionate remembrance by the people. Our cherished friend was engaged in a labor of a hard labor, indeed physically. He should work well and he will receive crowns, and he'll receive good well and he'll. It's a work too great and sad to be forgotten!
